businesses on or before August 22.

The date marks the anniversary of the killing by government officials of 17 jailed subversives who were allegedly staging a breakout. The left has contended that the prisoners were framed and has marked each anniversary with revenge bombings and killings. 3.3(b)(1) terrorists' actions will be extensive this year and that they plan to take over factories and destroy equipment.

the leftists intend to strike particularly hard at Argentine navy and marine officers.

the subversives plan to kill the three members of the military junta as well as a key army commander. There are indications of a long-standing plan to attack members of the US Military Group in Buenos Aires, although this may not be related to the anniversary.

Argentine officials have taken considerable satisfaction from the fact that other recent historical dates have passed without major terrorist actions. The officials take this as a further indication that they have made important inroads against the guerrillas. Setbacks suffered over the last few weeks, however, will probably spur the terrorists to counter the growing impression that the government has them on the run. 3.5(c)
